LINES TO THE STORMY PETREL

AUTHOR UNKNOWN.

The petrel is an ocean bird which during flight seems to touch the surface of the waves; it was probably so called in allusion to St. Peter's walking on the sea.

THE lark sings for joy in her own loved land, In the furrowed field, by the breezes fanned; And so rovel we
In the furrowed sea,
As joyous and glad as the lark can be.

> On the placid breast of the inland lake The wild duck delights her pastime to take;
> But the petral brayes
> The wild ocean wayes, His wing in the foaming billow he laves.

The halcyon loves in the noontide beam To follow his sport on the tranquil stream. He fishes at ease In the summer breeze,

But we go angling in stormiest seas, song-note have we but a piping cry, That blends with the storm when the wind is high.
When the land-birds wail We sport in the gale, And merrily over the ocean we sail.

ATLEE ITEMS

At a meeting of the board of trustees of Washington and Henry Academy, which was held on Saturday evening, May 12th, in the school building, it was decided by the trustees that they would build two more rooms on to the present building and have an assembly hall, covering the four rooms; then it would then be turned over to the State for a high school, which will be a great advantage to the young men and hales of Hanover county. At this meeting the twelve trustees were present; also the superintendent of schools of this county, Mr. H. C. Redd, of Beaver Dam, and Commonwealth's Attorney George P. Haw, of Hanover Courthouse.

The latter two gave very instructive talks concerning the high school and its work. All were much disappointed when they found that it was impossible to have Superintendent Eggleston and Mr. E. H. Russell came last Tuesday morning, and inspected the school property.

A Famous English Physician (who requests that his name be withheld from publication) of the drape - Nuts

"In cases of slow digestion, lack of stomach tone and debility, this food is invaluable."

NOW FOR THE REASON: The great bulk of human food is starch in some form-bread, pastry, potatoes, rice, cereals tu (such as oats) wheat, rye, barley, etc. This class of food supplies "energy" if it be properly digested, but there's the rub. Starch W and sugar in food are digested by the liver and intestines. When these organs are overworked or become weak, then the food is not entirely digested and lies in the warm moisture of the stomach until it decays, producing gas, and therefore disturbance and incipient disease of the liver and intes-

P tines and frequently appendicitis To meet this trouble Grape-Nuts food was invented. In it, the starch part of wheat and barley is transformed by long soaking, warmth, and time, into sugar-just the same method as the body employs in digestion. Hence when one eats Grape-Nuts he eats a predigested food, ready for immediate digestion and assimilation, supplying the body with the needed food elements in a soluble and delicious form.

For athletes, brain-workers, or the weakest babe.

THE LONDON "LANCET" SAYS: "The features worthy of note in our analysis are the excellent proportion of proteid, inhersi matters, and soluble carbohydrates per cent. The mineral matter was rich in phosphoric acid. "Grape-Nuts" is described as a brain and nerve food, whatever that may mean. Our analysis, at any rate, shows that it is a nutritive of a high order, since it contains the constituents of a complete food in very satisfactory and rich proportion and in an easily assimilable state."

The food is naturally pre-digested by heat, moisture, and time. The diastase is thus produced and the transformation of starch into sugar accomplished. A perfect food for persons with weak intestinal digestion and who need, but cannot fully digest ordinary bread and starchy food.

(For infants, pour hot water over three or four teaspoonfuls of the food. Use that water with a trifle of the food dissolved in it.) "THERE'S A REASON"
